

TeenHacks

Teen Hacks is an educational event. It's also an event designed for mature students. Teen Hacks is not limited to coding: students will be participating in a variety of other fun activities throughout the event, including physical activities. We will also be providing food to the students, which may carry risks of allergies. While we do provide some supervision, we cannot closely supervise all students at all times. Parents are responsible for ensuring your student is mature enough to attend Teen Hacks.

Students who harass other attendees, cause large disruptions, damage the venue or other students' property, or violate the Code of Conduct will not be allowed to remain at the event, and parents will be responsible for picking them up.

ACCIDENT WAIVER AND RELEASE OF LIABILITY

I am voluntarily participating in this activity, and am participating entirely at my own risk. I am aware that Teen Hacks is not solely a programming event, but also includes physical activity, so I am aware of the risks associated with traveling to and from, as well as participating in, Teen Hacks, including, but not limited to: physical, psychological, and monetary risks.

I understand that these risks may arise from my own or others' negligence, conditions related to travel, the event format itself, or the condition of the Teen Hacks location.

In consideration of these risks, and as consideration for the right to participate in Teen Hacks, I hereby, for myself, my heirs, executors, administrators, assigns, and personal representatives, knowingly and voluntarily assume all risks of participating in Teen Hacks, and enter into this waiver and release of liability.

I hereby waive any and all rights, claims or causes of action of any kind whatsoever arising out of my participation in Teen Hacks. I agree to indemnify and hold harmless, and do hereby release and forever discharge, the following parties from any injury (including those not explicitly listed above), whether foreseeable or unforeseeable, that I may suffer as a result of my participation in Teen Hacks:

- Shooting Stars, Inc or InternetDonkey, Inc or TeenHacks
- All sponsors of Teen Hacks.
- The companies hosting Teen Hacks, and the buildings at which Teen Hacks takes place.
- All the directors, officers, employees, staff, volunteers, representatives, contractors, predecessors, successors, heirs, assigns, and agents of all the above listed organizations.

To the extent that case law does not prohibit releases for negligence, this release is also for negligence.

To the extent that any damage to equipment or facilities occurs as a result of my or my family's willful actions, neglect, or recklessness, I acknowledge and agree to be held liable for any and all costs associated.

I have read the participation agreement and rules for TeenHacks and understand that this document is a release of liability, and by signing, I am entering into a legal agreement in consideration for my ability to participate in Teen Hacks. I am aware of the risks, and am physically fit and sufficiently trained to participate in this event.
